MENTAL HEALTH

Mental health issues, by definition, make it more difficult to function and participate in society. And, because life isn't always fair, not participating in social relations – circles of friends, family groups, clubs and societies – can exacerbate mental health issues.

Being isolated is bad for your mental health; being integrated is good for your mental health. And while you can't just walk into a supportive new family or sign up to a set of new friends, you can join a community group, just like that, and get the benefits.

Social isolation negatively affects your health; socially supportive interactions have the opposite effect – all the studies say so.

Join in! Find a community group that interests you – there are 700,000 community groups in Australia; there's definitely one for you!

Some groups are made up of people that have similar issues to yours. They know what it's like. They can understand how you feel. And they can give you tips on dealing with your problems. You don't have to cope with this on your own.

Look them up in the following pages.

Don't stop there, though. What about your other interests? There are hundreds and thousands and hundreds of thousands of clubs out there, and associations and committees and action groups and people sitting around a table engaging in hobbies and crusades and sports and performances and activities. They could do with your contribution, and they can offer you a lot in return.

Look on the Our Community website – www.ourcommunity.com.au/joinin – for a group you can relate to.

Come on – Join in, Join up!

Get connected! Find your place! Make a contribution! Make the world a better place – and a better place for you.

There's a community group out there waiting for your call!

What?

Join In, Join Up! is an Australia-wide program designed to encourage people to take up a more active role in their communities. Through online information and a range of other resources, like this brochure, we're helping people get connected, and reap the benefits for themselves and their communities.

Why?

Our goal is to get the message out to as many people as possible that joining a community organisation can have huge benefits for your health and wellbeing – all the studies say so! There are other benefits as well. The more people that get involved with community groups, the stronger those groups will be – and that means stronger local communities, and a stronger nation

How?

Pharmacists and pharmacy assistants will be able to help people 'get connected' with a great community group in their local area or interest area, acting as a link between the public and the community organisations listed on the Our Community Directory of Community Organisations. They'll be handing out listings like this one, and directing people to the Join In, Join Up! webpages.

But you don't need to visit a pharmacy to take part – simply go to www.ourcommunity.com.au/joinin to find a group that's right for you. Have a look for groups that are important to you – and ones that could be.

Who?

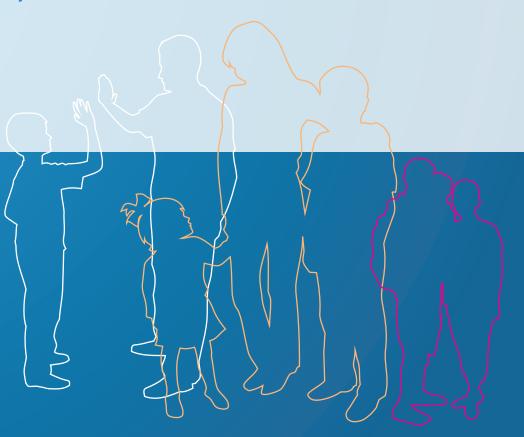

Join In, Join Up! is an initiative of the Pharmacy Guild of Australia and Our Community, and is proudly supported by the Telstra Foundation.
